(PIKO)
As I said, we left it dead
There's a roundabout inside my head
Lobectomy never seemed to work anyway
And so we tried again
As I said, we left it dead
When it tried to hide, it bloomed instead
Admittedly, it was undiagnosed until today
The person that I see that's right in front of me
Wasn't there yesterday, though I remember everything
If I took out all the parts, oh, I'd find another heart
Symbiotic to my own, but foreign tissues kept on growing
And so we tried again and again and again and again
Thought that my ischemia was just a sign of paranoia
An uninvolved placebo
Thought the times I never had had come about from my paresthesia
A puzzle just for me, oh
I thought something in the x-ray mystified me
An unresolved prognosis
The medical community defined me as an oddity
Despite the operations
We have
Arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths, we're inside out
We have arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths, we're inside out
That's how it is
(MAYU)
As I said, they went away
Now that just the two of us remain
Recovering from fifteen years without a name
They didn't try again
As I said, they went away
In the operating room they stayed
A pseudo-life that was undiagnosed until today
The person that I see that's right in front of me
Wasn't there yesterday, though I remember everything
If I took out all the parts, oh, I'd find another heart
Symbiotic to my own, oh how I
Thought that my ischemia was just a sign of naiveté
And my own broken pieces
Thought the time I knew I had resuscitated paranoia
And so I needed stitches
I thought something in the x-ray mystified me

An unresolved prognosis
The medical community defined me as an oddity
Despite the operations
We have arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths, we're inside out
We have arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths, we're inside out
That's how it is
(PIKO + MAYU)
Without a counterpart, they cut out the other heart
And placed it in a dictionary for all to see
(FLOWER)
Thought that my ischemia was just a sign of paranoia
An uninvolved placebo
Thought the times I never had had come about from paresthesia
A puzzle just for me, oh
I thought something in the x-ray mystified me
An unresolved prognosis
The medical community defined me as an oddity
Despite the operations
Thought that my paralysis was all because of paranoia
And my own fragmentations
Thought the times I never had had come about from paresthesia
Oh, what a puzzle I am
I thought something in the x-ray mystified me
An unresolved prognosis
The medical community keeps calling me "the oddity"
Throughout the operations
We have arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths and more and more
We have arms and legs and souls and veins,
We have eyes and mouths and more and more
That's how it is
We have arms and legs and more and more,
We have
We have souls and veins and more and more, We have
We have eyes and mouths and more and more,
We have
We're inside out, we're more and more
We have
(MAYU)
We have more and more,
We have
(PIKO)

We have more and more,
We have

Extra notes:
-The creation of TWHB took place around 2019. GHOST stopped working on this song because it was leaked off of their Patreon, after it was taken down it was reuploaded by another person. The reuploads have continued to be an issue discussed by GHOST multiple times, so if you have a download of it please don't spread it. I'm keeping this document open only to those who have the link, which I trust to be in good hands (hopefully lmao)
-As for the story, I have no clue what's happening
-There's a chance I'll private this because it's sort of intruding on GHOST'S privacy and that's not really my intention here. I just found no other lyrics other than on the PV so I jotted them down, and at the time I was a part of an archive community so I shared it. Now that I'm not there (for good reason) I don't really see why it should be left up.
